

SHOT THE CHUTES NO ALUM WATER TO THEIR LUNCH ON PARK FLOWERS

High School Girls Drop
Through Tubular Fire Escape.

IT BEATS LOOPING THE LOOP TRIP TAKES LESS THAN FIVE SECONDS TO MAKE.

New System Works Perfectly and the Entire 800 Girls Were Sent Down
One Escape in About Six Minutes.

Eight hundred girls of the Central High School, Grand and Finney avenues, went to lunch in an expedition and novel way yesterday.

One after the other they were shot down the new tubular fire escape to the courtyard below. The descent of each was accomplished in less than five seconds and in that brief interval each lived a lifetime.

It was the first formal fire drill since the new fire-escape system has been installed and proved a complete success. With the first fears worn off the pupils took a liking to the speedy means of exit from the building and it was demonstrated that in case of fire the 800 pupils could be emptied from it in six minutes. Practice will greatly lessen the time.

New Escapes Are Ingenious.

The new escapes are ingeniously arranged. They consist of two immense tubes, five and a half feet in diameter, reaching from the north and south sides of the court to the fourth floor. On each floor are doors through which the pupils spring like rabbits into a burrow. They alight on the spiral floor of pulverized iron on which they revolve, with an iron post as an axis, until they reach the bottom and are expelled into arms of a teacher in waiting. No matter how fast the human cargo embark on the spiral floors in the tubes, each girl and boy has his space for a seat and a blockade cannot occur. Neither is there danger from an accession of speed from the person behind.

The tubes, which have the appearance of huge rollers, were installed with other improvements during the summer vacation. A number of the harder boy pupils have been "shooting the chutes" for several weeks contrary to the wishes of the teachers, but the temptation of an exhilarating sensation was too great to be withstood for the sake of avoiding a reprimand or a letter to parents. These hardy spirits found the apparatus in perfect working order and surprised "shoots" got to be the proper thing among the boys when the vigilance of the teachers was relaxed.

Girls Given A Chance.

Yesterday Principal Bryan announced that the girls would make their acquaintance with the tubes. As the bell for lunch rang, Prof. Bryan struck the spring which released the door to the entrance to the tube on the second floor. Miss Ernst, the botany teacher, was stationed at the exit door in the courtyard below.

One after the other the girls leaped into the yawning aperture and were whisked away. Some of the timid ones hung back, their faces pallid with fright. The braver ones sprang into the tube readily, resolved that what the boys had accomplished subconsciously they could accomplish when under the direction of their principal. Despite the delay caused by some of the timid ones entering the tube, the whole 800 were sent down one escape in six minutes, and were eating their lunch, while they excitedly narrated their sensations.

Beats Looping the Loop.

"It was the most novel sensation of my life, and I have shot the chutes twice, gained and looped the loop," said one of the girls.

"I had watched several of the boys try the escapes and admired their bravery, wondering if, when the occasion came, I would be able to do likewise. When I sprang into the tube my heart nearly stopped beating. I felt myself seated on a revolving floor. O, it was so dark! The immediate darkness frightened me most. Down I whirled and whirled, an eternity to me, it seemed, but before I could even formulate a single coherent thought I was shot into blinding light and the reassuring face of Miss Ernst told me that I had arrived in safety. I won't mind it next time, neither will the other girls."

At the close of Monday afternoon's session the boys were given their first drill. They welcomed the innovation of being dismissed in this manner. With alacrity they leaped into the escape, endeavoring to establish a record the first trial. In five minutes all were walking out of the courtyard, voting the new system an improvement on the old.

Commissioner Ridgely Objects to Chemical Fluid for Any Purpose.

B. P. I. HOPELESSLY DIVIDED

MR. FLAD WISHES TO PLACE
MAYOR WELLS ON RECORD.

He Urges Associates to Support Bill
for Use of Coagulant, and See Whether It Will Receive
the Executive Veto.

The Board of Public Improvements held a session Tuesday morning at which the question of using alum in the filtration of the water supply of St. Louis was the subject of keen controversy among the members.

City Counselor Bates forwarded an opinion
to the effect that the recent action taken by Commissioner Flad, Hermann and Varrelmann in approving the filtration ordinance without waiting for the vote of the Board of Public Improvements was irregular, but not necessarily fatal so far as affecting the legal merits of the ordinance
as presented.

Water Commissioner Flad expects the city to appropriate $200 for a filtration plant. There is already pending before the Municipal Assembly an ordinance providing for two processes of clarifying the water supply. One is by coagulation, in which alum would have to be used, the other by draining off the water in the reservoirs from the tops through weirs
and by-passes until it reaches gradual purification.

Harbor Commissioner Whyte proposed that these two propositions which are contested in the same ordinance be separated, his object being to present that which omits the use of alum. He
Mr. Varrelmann stated that a resolution was before the Council calling on the body to return the ordinance to the board, and that pending action upon it he would vote against Mr. Whyte's motion.

The board was divided three and three.
Mr. Phillips and Mr. Ridgely voting with the harbor commissioner, and Mr. Bates with the water commissioner.

Water Commissioner Flad is determined to have filtration. In conversation with President Phillips of the Board of Public Improvements Mr. Flad declared that he intended to force this measure, if possible.

President Phillips asked him why he was so insistent, and suggested that his term would soon expire and there would be no one to carry out his ideas.

"Well," Mr. Flad is reported to have replied, "I have been at this matter ever since Mayor Wells came into office. I submitted the matter to the mayor on several occasions and he took very kindly to it.
He thought filtration was the proper thing."

"Suddenly, however, the mayor changes his mind and pays no more attention to the suggestions."

"Now I want to put the mayor on record as to his attitude on this matter. I want a chance to veto it."

Thus the B. P. I. kettle stirs, while St.
Louis continues to suffer as of old from muddy water.

The present complexion of the board seems to preclude any hope of having this vital public question satisfactorily settled.
As shown by the Post-Dispatch the inauguration of a system to filter the entire water supply of St. Louis would require the use of 18 tons of alum a day.

Mr. Whyte called the attention of his colleagues to this Tuesday and
"We are all men past middle age, and I think we should have passed the experimental stage. Personally, I do not want to drink alum water."

Park Commissioner Ridgely supported
Mr. Whyte's motion, and Mr. Bates with the remark that the park department had nothing to do with the question.

"I think," he replied, "that Mr. Ridgely,
"I am in serious doubt whether I would want to use water scented with alum on the flowers in Forest Park."

Dr. Hyatt Declares That This Is His Opinion Based on the Meteorological Conditions.

"Fairly cloudy tonight and Wednesday, moderate temperature," Dr. Hyatt explains is a forecast for continued fair weather.

The fair belt may be called a blanket today, for it covers nearly all the United States. There have been heavy rains at Mobile, Ala., and Jacksonville, Fla.,
but outside the central gulf states clear
weather has prevailed.

There is freezing
temperature in parts
of the Northwest,
with frost fringing
the great lakes.

Low barometers
cover the northern Pacific and the southern Atlantic states.
High barometers prevail over the lake
regions and the Ohio valley.

This morning's temperature was 52 degrees, two degrees cooler than Monday.
Dr. Hyatt thinks Wednesday may be a little warmer.

"BEWARE THE DOG" SIGN HID ROBBER

Proved Worse Terror Than the Canine.

HE ROBBED WILLIAM GARNETT

WAS A MULLATTO AND CARRIED
TWO BIG REVOLVERS.

Garnett Had a Weapon, but He Didn't Get a Chance to Use It—All This Happened in Maplewood,
Where a Burglary Is Also Reported.

A large sign reading "Beware of the Dog," served as a lurking place for a robber who stopped William Garnett on Sunday afternoon, Maplewood, Monday night,
and robbed him his watch, chain, pistol and $23.

Garnett, who is a mail clerk, carried the pistol for just such an occasion, but the highwayman was too quick for him, and the loaded revolver passed, with his other portable treasures, into the hands of the robber.

The sign regarding the dog is in the yard of Henry Herold on Sutton avenue. It is large enough for a theatrical billboard, and afforded ample shelter for the man who robbed Garnett.

Garnett left his car at 11:30 o'clock and was walking to his home. As he passed the dog sign in the Herold yard, there sprang at him not the dog, but the robber.

The man, a light mulatto, had a revolver
in each hand. He soon had a third weapon
the first article which he took from Gar-nett's pocket.

Garnett made no resistance, but as soon
as he had escaped went to Justice Eugene Hansmann's home. Deputy Sheriff Bellairs of St. Louis County was called, and Night Watchman Joseph Harrison of Maplewood joined in the search for the robber.

Shortly afterward it was learned that the home of William J. Hillier on Cherry avenue, Maplewood, had been entered early in the night, and two cash boxes, containing money and valuable papers, taken. The robber, but he does not know its exact amount.

The county officers connect the two crimes, and Deputy Sheriff Bellairs expects to make arrests before Tuesday night. It is believed that the mulatto highwayman
and a white man committed the burglary.
Eugene Hunsicker was robbed by negroes
in Maplewood two weeks ago.

POWER BRAKES ASSURED

Mayor Wells Says the Transit Company Has Agreed to Put Them
On at Once.

Mayor Wells stated to the Post-Dispatch
Tuesday that he had received assurance that the St. Louis Transit Co. would put power brakes on all its lines just as rapidly as it was possible to do so.

The mayor was notified two weeks ago that the transit company had failed to comply with the power-brake ordinance and General Manager Dupont's agent was immediately called to the failure.

As to where guards, the mayor said that he had not time yet to take up this point with the transit company. He is confident, however, that the transit company will have their guards and power brakes placed on all cars within the next 40 days.

MISSING RILEY SEEN ON FRIDAY

Acquaintance Says He Was Having Shoes Shined.

HE BOWED TO HER THAT DAY

SHE DID NOT KNOW THEN THAT HE WAS MISSING.

Others Seen by the Sisters and Mother of the Missing Man Saw a Man
Answering His Description
South of the City.

In the search for Edward Riley, the young man who has been missing from his home at 735 Riley avenue since Monday morning of last week, several clues have been discovered. A Miss Poupney says she saw him the Friday after he disappeared. Others saw a man answering his description
south of the city.

Miss Isabel Riley, sister of Edward, traveled 18 miles down the Illinois side of the Mississippi river Sunday in her search for clues and for the purpose of posting pictures and descriptions of her brother taken from the Post-Dispatch.

"I went over to East Carondelet," says
Miss Riley, "and traveled down as far as Mayville, tacking the posters to fences and trees and making inquiries of fishermen
and farmers along the way."

"Monday my sister and I walked 18 miles
on the Missouri side of the river, doing the same work. We thought perhaps Edward might have become delirious and been taken in by some farmer."

First Clue
Discovered.
"We found a Jefferson county farmer who said that last Wednesday afternoon
he saw a man walking very fast on the road toward Crystal City. From his description we think it might have been our brother. He said the man was a dark skin and a cap like Ed's, and that he seemed to be very thin."

At every station a little girl said she saw a man answering the description in that vicinity the same day our brother disappeared.

"I was told by the mate of the steamer
City of Providence that a man named George, employed at night on the boat, saw a young man on the red bridge near Ivory station, walking in the direction of our home, who from his appearance, might have been our brother. That was on the evening after the day he disappeared."

The sisters made inquiries of many persons at Luxembourg and its vicinity.

Acquaintance Saw
Riley Last Friday.
A daughter of Frank Poupney, who lives in the city block on Michigan avenue, told Miss Riley that she saw Edward Riley, with whom she had been associated in amateur dramatics, last Friday in front of 9 South Broadway, getting his shoes shined.

The Riley family was connected as city salu-man, formerly was located at that number.
Mrs. Riley said that she saw him was not aware at the time that he was missing. He bowed to her in recognition, she says, and she passed on.

Mrs. Ann Riley, the young man's mother, is adding her daughters and her other children to the search for him. She is most broken down by grief and anxiety.
The baby was ill during the voyage, but
began to improve after the family landed at Crystal City.

BLAMES TUNNEL FOR DEATH

Mrs. Franziska Duffick Says Smoke and Gas Killed Her Baby, but Physicians Say Malaria.

Mrs. Franziska Duffick, a Moravian immigrant, who reached St. Louis Monday night believes that the passage through the tunnel is responsible for the death of her baby, Frank, who died Tuesday morning at St. City Hospital.

She said her husband, Joseph, and 2-year-old daughter, Marie, with little Frank, 18 months old, crossed the ocean last week.
The baby was ill during the voyage, but
began to improve after the family landed at Crystal City.

Officially sent the family to the hospital and the baby died. The physicians blamed the death on malaria, but Mrs. D.
said she believed it was the tunnel and
the smoke and gas.

The Mad Mullah of Somaliland.

That part of Somaliland in northeast Africa, forming a border land between Abyssinia and the British protectorate of the coast of the Gulf of Aden, has been for the last two or three years in a state of disturbance, owing to the increasing power of the Mad Mullah. Last December the Mullah was reported to have about twelve thousand men, mostly mounted, a large percentage of whom were armed with rifles. It is possible that he now commands about fifteen thousand men. With this large force harassing him, Col. Swayne has retired to Hoboke, 150 miles, and probably still one hundred miles further, to Bura, the principal British frontier post. This move must be made under a scorching sun and an arid and roadless desert, even if the retreat is successful. The entire expedition will have to be repeated on a much larger scale.

Col. Swayne is accompanied by over twenty white officers and has with him some Maxim guns and some seven-pounders.

WELLS' SIGHT

Trial of the Man Accused of Strangling Three Women.

POLICEMAN OF EVANSVILLE SEEN WITH MRS. RILEY ON NIGHT OF HER MURDER.

The Woman Was With Him Riding in the Officer's Sundry the Evening Before Her Body Was Found on the Highway.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. EVANSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 21.—In the trial of Wilbur S. Sherwell, the former Evansville policeman, accused of having strangled three women, the state today introduced its most damaging testimony. Sherwell, formerly a policeman, was arrested on the night of the murder of Mrs. Riley, Nov. 11, between 6 and 7 o'clock. Sherwell drove up to the house and asked witness to take a drink. Sherwell was drinking and had his sundry. Sherwell had denied all along that he was out with his sundry on the night in question.

Charles Andrews, an insurance agent, testified he saw Sherwell standing on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets the same night as the murder, answering the description of Mrs. Riley, came up and walked away with Sherwell. They went in the direction of Division street. Patrolman Ben Wallace testified he saw Sherwell's sundry on Division street about 7 o'clock that night. Mrs. Mary Owen, with whom Mrs. Riley lived, testified Sherwell had called several times to see Mrs. Riley. Witness was unable to say if Mrs. Riley and Sherwell were intimately acquainted, as the former had a room of her home.

Frank Kippel, who keeps a saloon in First avenue, about three blocks from the First avenue bridge, near where the body of Mrs. Riley was found, said Sherwell came into his place on the night of November 11. Witness said Sherwell was very nervous and threw his eyes about the room. He asked for a glass of whisky and a glass of soda and took them outside. Kippel did not go to the door to see who was outside with Sherwell. In a few seconds Sherwell returned the glasses to Kippel and hurriedly departed. The witness was positive in his identification of Sherwell. He did not know Sherwell at the time he was in the saloon, but identified him at the jail after the prisoner was under arrest.

Rheinhard Pohl, a coal miner, testified he was in Kippel's saloon the night Sherwell came in. He noticed Sherwell had been drinking heavily. When the witness went outside he saw a woman in a white dress and a man in a dark suit. The woman was closely but noticed that she was a woman of large stature and wore a white waist and broad rimmed hat. Mrs. Riley was a large powerful woman and the night she was murdered wore a white waist and large broad rimmed hat.

NE MEXICO, CATTLEMAN SEND TO OHIO FOR HER.

"Water Witch" Describes Her Method of Discovering Water Underground With Wonderful Divining Stick.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Oct. 21.—A woman who carried a gnarled and twisted stick that was forked at one end attracted attention at the Union station. It was because it was such an ordinary looking stick that it attracted attention, and some one finally asked the owner what it was for. He learned that the stick was a "divining rod," and that its owner was Mrs. William Brinks, who is on her way from her home near Mansfield, O., to New Mexico.

Mrs. Brinks is what is known as a "water witch," and has a reputation near her home of being able to determine where water may be found by digging. Mrs. Brinks' reputation was carried by a Mansfield man to New Mexico, and what he told of her powers so impressed stockmen of that region that they agreed to pay Mrs. Brinks' expenses and, if she proved successful in her search, to pay her well to find wells on their ranges.

Mrs. Brinks' work is performed through the medium of the "divining rod." This rod is carefully selected by the "witch," and her choice is governed by requisites which she will not reveal. Mrs. Brinks said that the secret of selecting a "divining rod" was one that few persons possessed, and that it was one that could not be bequeathed to another. The only characteristic of a "divining rod" that is generally known is that it must be forked at one end.

Mrs. Brinks said that when she started out to find the spot where water could be found by digging she would take the "divining rod" and hold it in her right hand by the end opposite the fork and hold it before her with the forked end an inch or more from the ground. Thus equipped she walks back and forth on the land where it is desired to dig a well. When she passes over water that can be reached by digging, the rod, she says, turns over in her hand and the forked end is drawn to the earth as a piece of steel is attracted by a magnet. Mrs. Brinks declared that the "divining rod" never fails and that when water is found the rod will turn over, no matter what efforts are made to prevent its doing so.

The "water witch" said that the force that compelled the rod to turn was so powerful that she had known the bark to be twisted from the rod when the holder grasped it tightly in an effort to keep it from reverting itself.

"I never fail to find wells if there is any water," said Mrs. Brinks, "and I am confident of success in my present undertaking."

Mrs. Brinks, who appeared to be intelligent and whose conversation indicated that she was a woman of some education, appeared to have implicit faith in her powers.

Finder, D. R. Fullerton, Read Two-Line Notice in the Post-Dispatch.

WATCH—Lost, Sunday afternoon, small gold watch. Finder rewarded on return to 3334 Lucas.

A Post-Dispatch want ad. brought back a gold watch to Miss Edith Buller of 3334 Lucas avenue within 24 hours after she had lost it.

Miss Buller, whose home is in Lamar, Mo., was on a crowded suburban car Sunday afternoon's Post-Dispatch and early in the evening a young man called and left the watch, which was a valuable souvenir timepiece.

The finder and returner of the watch was David R. Fullerton of 217 St. Vincent avenue, who had picked up the watch on the car floor and had seen Miss Buller's two-line advertisement in the Post-Dispatch.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JOPLIN, Mo., Oct. 21.—The coronation of the Queen was the feature of the Elks' Charity Carnival. Miss Nettie Murphy was given the honor with impressive ceremony.

Heading the beautiful flower parade was the queen's float, known as the "Cleopatra Barge Design," in which sat Miss Murphy and her eight maids of honor. Miss Blanche Scholes, late queen of the Galena (Kan.) carnival, occupied the seat of honor on the float.

The flower parade, and Miss Blanche Scholes, late queen of the Galena (Kan.) carnival, occupied the seat of honor on the float. The float was a magnificent affair, and the parade was a great success.

Nearly all the floats used in the Galena flower parade last week were here, also many from Webb City. It is to be repeated Thursday afternoon.

In the voting contest to elect the queen, the Elks particularly cast their ballots for Miss Murphy and the rivalry between them and the Elks for the honor of choosing the leader of the flower parade and other big events of the affair was great.

S. L. Wheeler, postmaster at Springfield, Ill., wrote, asking if it is permissible for a postmaster under the recent ruling of the department to act as chairman of a Republican meeting. The query was sent to the Civil Service Committee, which turned it over to First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne.

Gen. Wynne wrote a terse telegram, telling Mr. Wheeler that presiding at a political meeting was certainly taking a prominent part in politics and would not be tolerated.

SENDS PROTEST TO ARCHBISHOP

His Action Is Due to the Posting of Electioneering Cards for Caspar Wolfe in the School Yard of St. John of Nepomuk.

Frank Matoushek, the Bohemian king, abdicated, has a new grievance and has begun a crusade to keep politics out of the church.
Mr. Matoushek has appealed to Archbishop Kain to settle the question as to the propriety of posting candidates' cards in the parish school of St. John of Nepomuk at Eleventh and Souard streets.
The ex-king, who still resides at 1809 South Eleventh street, in his former realm, says he has discovered that the electioneering cards of Caspar J. Wolfe, Democratic candidate for clerk of the circuit court for criminal causes, have been posted on the trees in the school yard and pasted on the walls and windows of the building.
"I wrote to Father Bleha," says Mr. Matoushek, "protesting against this. The Catholic church is not Democratic Catholic; it is not Republican Catholic; it is Roman Catholic. That's what I contend. We must keep politics out of the church.

I called up Father Bleha over the telephone first, but when he recognized my voice he refused to talk with me. Then I wrote him a postal card.
"Today I have written a letter to Archbishop Kain with my protest, stating my views. I am waiting to see what his grace will do in the matter."
In the meantime I have surrounded myself with a stack of cards announcing the candidacy of Edwin Gordon for the same office, and if they don't take down Wolfe's cards I'll paste Gordon's on the school windows, even if it results in my arrest.
Mr. Wolfe is a member of St. John of Nepomuk Church and was one of the active workers against the "king" while the latter sat on his throne in the parish.

EMBLEMS FOR WORLD'S FAIR

Artists' Competition for $2000 Prize Will Be Decided in New York November 17.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—On Nov. 17 the $2000 prize competition for an emblematic design suitable for the great seal, stationery posters and other uses of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition will be decided in this city. Prof. Halsey C. Ives, director of the St. Louis Museum of Fine Arts and chief of the art department of the Exposition, who suggested the competition, says that it has aroused great interest not only here but abroad and a large number of designs, which, under the terms, must be submitted anonymous, are awaiting judgment.

INVESTORS ALARMED
BY WATERED STOCKS

SECRETARY WILSON TELLS WHY MONEY STAYS IN BANKS.

BIG DEMAND FOR FARM LAND

Western Capitalists Buy It Because It Is Safer Than Overcapitalized Corporations.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 21.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson was loquacious today, with politics as his theme. Among his interesting statements were these:
"Nebraska banks are gorged with money, the owners of which are afraid to invest in modern stocks and bonds because of the vast amount of water which has been injected into the securities."
"This money is transferred to eastern cities, where the money kings invest it. The western farmers and business men can't find safe investment except in lands, and that accounts for the high and increased value of western farm lands. Western money is even going into Canada to find landed investments."
"To prevent this Congress can pass laws forbidding the overcapitalization of all kinds of trusts and enterprises. I do not look forward to the coming session. There will not be a session of the Congress to take action on the revision of the tariff. As regards tariff revision, the sentiment of Republicans everywhere is the same as ever. It is wrong to think the Republicans don't believe in tariff revision they do. They believe in tariff revision whenever conditions require that revision be made."

"Why did Speaker Henderson resign?"
"Well, I don't like to speak for him. He has seen many tariff modifications in his days, and I hope he will live long enough to see many more revisions."

Secretary Wilson will speak at several points in Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa, closing the campaign in the prohibition states.

POSSE IS AFTER BRADSHAW.

Kansas Murder Suspect Is Closely Pursued in Missouri.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WINDSOR, Mo., Oct. 21.—The posse pursuing Samuel Bradshaw, wanted in connection with the murder of R. J. Morrison, a general merchant at Pawnee Station, Kan., on the night of Oct. 1, hopes to catch him before another day passes.
He was wounded in an encounter with the posse Sunday and his flight impeded seriously.
He is the only one of the four suspects at liberty. David Bradshaw, his brother, is in jail at Hialeahville, Mo., and Sam and John Butcher are held at Sedalia, Mo.
Robbery was the motive for the murder of Morrison, $500 being taken from his dead body. Four men called for some medicine, and when Morrison opened the door to give it to them one of them crushed his skull with a pick handle.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—"Lads" have been down at the Battery for some time awaiting the coming of friends from mother country. All kinds are among the waiting throng—boarding house "cappers," "runners" for contractors, keen-eyed boarding house mistresses—all alert for the avalanche of foreigners and the pickings that must result.
On the first boat from Ellis Island 500 "runners" landed. They followed in droves the "runners" landed the state and drowning the officials in floods of liquid vowels and addressing welcome to the familiar faces bobbing behind the police line.
Brilliant in neckerchiefs of blue, yellow, orange, lavender, green and purple, great hooped earrings of gold and silver dangling from their ears, they hastened through the gate of the new land and into the arms of their waiting fellow countrymen.
The men were printed tags sewed to their coats naming their destinations as points in New England and the West.
The detectives were especially vigilant to apprehend the "contract runners," and more than one vendetta was breathed as the result of an application of a No. 10 boot to the person of an over-zealous tout.
Two thousand immigrants were landed yesterday and more are to be landed from the following steamers: Sicilian Prince, from Genoa; 1123, Perugia, Genoa; 1207, Gipsa Di Napoli, Genoa and Naples; 1407, Island, Antwerp, 1903. Three quarters of the immigrants are Italians.

POLICE PARADE

Chief Kiely and Staff in Lead of the Procession.

REVIEW ON TWELFTH STREET

MAYOR AND COMMISSIONERS SAW DRILL FROM STAND.

Medals Were Awarded to Men for Largest Number of Arrests, Bravest Act and Best Record in Target Practice.

Six hundred men rode and marched in the annual police parade today, leaving the armory at Seventeenth and Pine streets at 11 o'clock and passing through the downtown district and back to the reviewing stand at Twelfth and Chestnut streets.

Admiring crowds watched the spectacle along the route of the parade, and many expressions of pride in the appearance of "the fleet" were heard.

Every man wore spotless white gloves and his black helmet and blue uniform looked brand new. Every pair of shoes was neatly polished and the riot guns looked as though they had come direct from the factory.

The sergeants were distinguishable from the "privates" not only by the white chevrons, but also by their distinctive caps. These were the regulation military caps with a gilt wreath in front. The sergeants also carried swords.

CHIEF KIELY IN LEAD.
Leading the parade were Chief Kiely and his staff, mounted upon well-groomed horses. The chief's staff consists of Assistant Chief C. G. Gillaspie, Inspector Edward J. Lally and Dr. A. C. Robinson, medical examiner.

Fifty picked men from the mounted district rode their horses with an air of expert horsemanship, born of long years in the saddle.

Four companies of infantry police marched along, 125 men to a company, with the proper detail of officers. The men carried riot guns.

The members of the Board of Police Commissioners, in carriages, were a part of the parade. Chief of Detectives Desmond and his staff also occupied a carriage.

Following was the line of march: From the armory on Pine street to Twelfth, to Olive street, to Broadway, to Washington avenue, countermarch on Broadway to Elm street, to Fourth street, to Washington avenue, to Twelfth street, to the reviewing stand on Twelfth street between Pine and Chestnut streets.

Gold medals were awarded to the policeman who has made the most important arrest during the year, to the one who has performed the bravest act and to the man who has made the best target record.

At the reviewing stand 12 medals were awarded for good work, to men who have received honorable mention in the reports of their captains. Each captain designated three men as eligible for these medals, and a committee of the police board selected the 12 medal men from this list.

Patrolman Charles Roll of the Second District received the medal awarded for the bravest act of the year.

On Aug. 2, last, Roll arrested Charles Harris, an ex-convict, in the mouth of an alley, while Harris was firing on him with a revolver at close range.

Mrs. Lizzie Rothmer of 3433 Nebraska avenue was leaving a grocery near her home when Harris snatched her purse from her hand, at the same time holding his revolver near her head and cautioning her to make no outcry.

The grocery saw the occurrence and as he started toward the door of the store Harris fired at him, then turned and ran. Roll, who was a short distance away, gave chase and drove the purse-snatcher into the mouth of an alley.

The feeling man discovered when he had turned into the alley that it had no outlet. Being at bay, he turned and commenced to fire at the policeman, Roll, disregarding the bullets which whizzed by his ears, made for him and led him to the station house at Ninth and Wyoming streets.

For making the most important arrest during the year, gold medals were awarded to Detectives John Shevlin, Brady, John McGrath, George William Burke and John, who captured the desperate train robber, Ben Kilpatrick.

Silver medals of honorable mention for good service was presented by President Hawes to the following policemen from the different districts:

Central district: Edward Connell, James J. O'Brien; second, William McCormack; third, Louis G. Rodemich; fourth, James Hunt; fifth, John J. McCarthy; sixth, Nicholas Barr; seventh, William C. Burns; eighth, Thomas Noonan; ninth, Timothy Dee; tenth, H. H. Tschemacher; mounted, August Drier.

Following the presentation of the medals by Mr. Hawes, the entire line of policemen, extending from Olive street to Market street, responded to the command, "Right about face," and marched to the east side of Twelfth street, leaving the space in front of them clear for the exercises of the squad from the mounted district.

While the parade was in progress the entire city was guarded just the same as usual, more than half the police force being on regular patrol duty.

There are 1200 policemen on the force, including patrolmen and district officers. The headquarters staff, detectives, drivers and other members of the force bring the number up to a total of 1379 men.

REVIEW AT 12:10.

The head of the procession reached the reviewing stand at 12:10 o'clock. The mounted police faced west, in single file. The foot police formed two lines, reaching from Olive street to Market street, and facing west.

Chief Kiely and his staff dismounted and took their places upon the stand. Chief of Detectives Desmond and his staff left their carriage and went upon the stand, where were gathered Mayor Wells, Joseph W. Folk, Judges Wood and Douglas, the members of the grand jury and many prominent citizens.

Drillmaster T. Rosser Roemer notified Chief Kiely that the parade was ready for review. The chief notified Mayor Wells, and the officials then passed along the lines inspecting the men.

Chief of Police Taffe of Indianapolis, who was a guest of Chief Kiely for a day, was one of the reviewers, was loud in praise of the appearance of the men, their manipulation in the drilling exercises and the general conduct of the parade.

President Harry B. Hawes of the police board made a brief address to the men.

There were drills by the mounted men and those on foot and also maneuvers by patrol wagons in front of the reviewing stand.

South of the reviewing stand was another large stand for spectators, which was occupied by some of the members of the city administration and other citizens.

PRESENTATION OF FLAG.

An interesting incident at the reviewing stand was the presentation of an American flag, full army size, of silk, to the police of St. Louis from the Vellel Prophet.

Attorney John D. Johnson made the presentation speech, and placed the flag in the hands of Chief Kiely, who responded. Mayor Wells also made a brief speech of response.

The committee of presentation was composed of Mr. Johnson, Peter McMarrow, C. F. Blanke, L. E. Anderson and Edward Devoy.

The flag was inscribed: "Presented by the Vellel Prophet to his loyal subjects, the police of the city of St. Louis, Oct. 7, 1907." It is in recognition of the services of the police at the Vellel Prophet parade.

Capt. Reynolds of the Central district had 110 policemen along the line of march and at the reviewing stand to maintain order.

Chief Kiely's family occupied a carriage near the reviewing stand.

PATROL WAGON DRILL.

Following the maneuvers of the mounted police, 12 patrol wagons entered the reviewing space on Twelfth street and executed a series of evolutions. The wagons were freshly painted, the horses were handsomely groomed and the drivers wore white gloves.

After the exhibition by the patrol wagons Capt. Roemer undertook to drill the entire body of policemen en masse. This attempt proved unsuccessful, as the line was too long for his commands to be heard at either extremity.

By the advice of the police board Capt. Roemer then divided the line into two parts and commenced drilling the first part.

After the completion of the evolutions of the patrolmen, President Hawes ordered that the parade come to an end and the band was summoned. Following the band, the line marched south to Walnut street, where the paraders dispersed.

Both Mayor Wells and Mr. Hawes expressed themselves as much pleased with the demonstration, which, they said, showed great improvement since last year.

START OF PARADE.

At 9:30 o'clock T. Rosser Roemer, drillmaster of the police department, began preparing the police for the parade on the drill floor at the First Regiment Armory, Seventeenth and Pine streets.

Five hundred policemen were quickly formed into four companies of 125 men each. Captains William Young, Michael O'Malley, R. P. Cressy and James Johnson took charge of the four companies.

The companies were formed in parallel lines and after they had been properly aligned, Drillmaster Roemer distributed the sergeants, placing one on each end of each company, "guide" and also assigning others to command divisions of the companies when they were divided into platoons.

The four companies were formed into a battalion by Drillmaster Roemer with careful attention to detail. He himself acted as adjutant and he designated a policeman as sergeant major.

INSPECTION FIRST.

There was an inspection of each man in line before the column moved out of the armory.

When the battalion of policemen took position in Pine street outside the armory it was formed into a column of platoons. There were twenty platoons of 25 men each.

Each platoon consisted of a double line of policemen with a sergeant as left guide and with another sergeant in front of the line commanding.

Capt. Young walked by the side of the first platoon, and the other captains appeared by the side of platoons from their respective districts.

The policemen were equipped with riot guns. Their prompt and correct responses to commands showed that they had been carefully drilled in the manual of arms, and the precision with which they kept step indicated that they had carefully observed the drillmaster's instructions in the foot movements.

BATTALION FORMED.

It was 10:30 o'clock when the police battalion was formed outside the armory. It extended almost from Sixteenth to Eighteenth street.

The appearance of the police soldiery attracted much favorable comment from the crowd that gathered while they waited for the order, "forward, march."

Strict discipline was maintained in the formation and on the parade later and the men seemed very serious in their efforts to make the best possible showing.

While the police infantry waited on Pine street, the police cavalry swung into the same thoroughfare. This cavalry consisted of a troop of 40 mounted policemen, the yellow braid on their uniform showing in strong contrast to the white and blue of the infantry.

Their coming was heralded by a trumpet—a policeman in mounted uniform, riding by the side of the police infantry, blowing the call after the manual in the regular army.

Capt. McNamee's troopers gave an exhibition drill on Pine street while waiting for the parade to start. They may not have intended it as such, but it proved an entertaining exhibition to the residents along that street and also to the crowd of probably 1000 persons who gathered in the vicinity.

The police troopers marched up and down the street, "columned right" and "columned left," turned and wheeled and did other things military in response to the footings of the police trumpeter.

About 10:50 carriage, containing Mayor Wells and the police board, drove west on Pine street to the starting point. A few minutes later Chief Kiely and his escort appeared and the parade began.

A few mounted men were sent ahead to clear the streets, and the procession started with Chief Kiely in the van.

By his side rode Assistant Chief Gillaspie and Inspector Edward Lally.

Immediately following them were the mounted detachment, in charge of Capt. George T. McNamee and Lieut. Robert A. Hanna. Sergeants Boland, Collins and O'Hanlon rode by the side of the mounted column.

CAVALRY AS ESCORT.

The mounted men served as escort to three carriages. In the first rode Mayor Wells and President Hawes of the Board of Police Commissioners. In the next rode Commissioners T. R. Ballard and William G. Frya. In the third carriage were Commissioners Andrew Blong, secretary of the police board Thomas J. Ward and Chief of Detectives Desmond. All of the gentlemen were garbed in Prince Albert coats and silk hats.

It was the first time that many of Chief Desmond's friends had seen him in that costume. Following the carriages came a band, headed by a drum major in a striking costume. To the music of the band marched the battalion of police infantry.

In the center of the battalion was a platoon composed of members of the Broadway squad, Sgt. Meehan commanding. Instead of guns they carried their small ornamental (and possibly useful) batons, decorated with light blue cord.

Immediately in the rear of the Broadway squad were four sergeants, walking abreast, one of them carrying the colors—the stars and stripes.

Crowds lined the street from Seventeenth to Twelfth, along Pine street. On Twelfth street a crowd probably of 2000 persons saw the parade swing north to Olive street and turn east on Olive. The Olive street cars stopped while the parade was passing.

Favorable comment on the appearance of the marchers was heard on every side among the spectators.

The platoon formation was continued throughout the parade, but commands were frequently given en route to change the positions of the guns. They were generally carried at a "port," occasionally at a "right shoulder."

Not only the sidewalks but the windows of all the business houses were crowded with spectators in the downtown district through which the parade passed.

ST. LOUIS CIVIL EFFORTS PRAISED

NATIONAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE SECRETARY LAUDS THEM.

APPROVES MAYOR'S WORK

Addressed Contemporary Club in Parlors of Mercantile Club Last Night.

The work of Mayor Wells for municipal betterment was praised by Clinton Rogers Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League, in his address before the Contemporary Club in the parlors of the Mercantile Club Monday night.

Mr. Woodruff spoke on "Some of the Things Which are Being Done for Civic Improvement." He referred to the Voters' League of Chicago, the American Society of Municipal Improvements, the American Park and Outdoor Art Association and the American League for Civic Improvement.

Mr. Woodruff said that sane and healthy observers everywhere are agreed that the world is moving forward, though there are times when the outlook seems dark. Speaking of the municipal problem, he said:

"Ten years ago it was one of hopeless despair and pessimism. Take the papers read at the first national conference for good city government held in Philadelphia in January, 1919. James C. Carter, president of the National Municipal League, said: 'This picture we have had painted for us is dismal enough, indeed, redeemed, however, by the merits of the artist we shall all agree.' "Baltimore, the subject of Mr. Carter's remark, in the same period is well on in the road to redemption; so far along that Mr. Bonaparte, at the Boston meeting of the National Municipal League, felt justified in offering hope and encouragement to some Philadelphians present, baring his head upon the success in Baltimore and Maryland, which had attended efforts similar to theirs. Mr. Bonaparte, at the Richmond meeting, said: 'We achieved a great victory for the principles of the National Municipal League. This is a remarkable and a very gratifying change since I read my paper at Philadelphia, but I see no reason to doubt the correctness of my opinion, as you know I am not especially inclined to optimism.'"

"The people are stirred up and are being stirred up, and this is much. The talk of a federation of interests points the same way. It may be taken that the 'trust' period has been reached, and that the further development will be in a direction of an harmonious agreement as to the spheres of activity, so that there will be an economy of effort and distribution and an elimination of superfluous activities and overlapping."

"In this review of the situation I have deliberately dwelt upon the favorable signs and evidences. Primarily, because I think they preponderate over the unfavorable ones, and secondly, because I think progress lies in the direction of their cultivation and emphasis. There is a progressive development toward good. The difficulties are not all eliminated or the obstacles all surmounted, but the forces making for righteousness and improvement are being strengthened from day to day and in time, must overcome those that make and sustain corruption and inefficiency."

Boy Held by Belleville Police.
Frank Schulte, 11 years old, son of August Schulte of 1900 Glass avenue, Belleville, is being held at the police station until word is received from his parents. He ran away from home Saturday and was found Sunday night on the steps of St. Patrick's Church by a negro who did not give his name and turned over to the police.

THE OUTLOOK FOR HARD COAL INSIDE POLITICAL HISTORY SHOWN

Dealers Say It Cannot Reach St. Louis Under a Month, but There's Plenty of Fuel.

More than a month will elapse, local coal dealers say, before sufficient quantities of coal will be received in St. Louis to satisfy the present fuel situation.

A result of the entire absence of Pennsylvania anthracite from the local market has been a great increase in the demand for the so-called Arkansas anthracite. This demand, the dealers say, is likely to continue permanently, as the Arkansas coal has given general satisfaction, and transportation rates are greatly in its favor.

The present eastern coal problem is characterized by dealers as one of transportation, rather than of production. A point in favor of this city is the large number of cars of grain moving east. These cars are emptied at eastern points and are available for carrying coal on their return west.

The present warm weather, coal men say, has prevented a rush for fuel and has made it possible for them to fill all orders, while a surplus of coal to meet the demands of a possible sudden cold snap is being stored up.

A Notable Locomotive.

From England. The average performance of a locomotive in this country is a little over 20,000 miles a year, but an engine of the London & Northwestern Railway Co. has just completed its second million miles annual in 100 years.

This is the Charles Dickens, well known to most travelers, who journey between Manchester and London. During the whole of its career no passenger behind it has suffered an accident.

THIS IS THE EVIDENCE OF HARRY B. HAWES REGARDING THE PROPOSED DEAL WHICH IT WAS SOUGHT TO MAKE WITH THE DEMOCRATS.

An interesting chapter of local political history is developing in the depositions now being taken before Commissioner P. B. Kennedy, as a preliminary to the trial of the libel suit of Lee Meriwether against the St. Louis Republic, which resulted from the publication of an article written by Meriwether on the subject of the recent fusion plans of the Public Ownership and Republican parties.

The initial testimony heard Monday disclosed chiefly that Meriwether attempted fusion, not only with the Republicans but Democrats as well, and that in one of the Democratic conferences Ed Butler was selected as the mediator.

The principal witnesses examined were Harry B. Hawes and William A. Rothwell, chairman of the Democratic state committee.

Mr. Rothwell's testimony told of the visits which Col. Butler had made to him with regard to the placing of three Democratic judges on the bench, when they refused to endorse fusion.

Butler outlined the Meriwether plan to the state committee.

Mr. Rothwell testified that he understood that Meriwether wanted this done, so as to get even with the Republican party for the election of 1928, when they refused to endorse fusion.

Mr. Hawes' testimony established that if a certain sum was put up, the Public Ownership people would support the Democratic judicial candidates.

"It was a mere question of barter and sale with Mr. Meriwether," testified Mr. Hawes. "If we had $300,000, we could have gotten his support. We didn't have the money and did not enter into negotiations with Mr. Meriwether."

Mr. Meriwether conducted his side of the examination. He sought to prove that the Democratic committee had interfered with the fusion plans of the Public Ownership and Republican parties by dictating the judges and clerks.

Most of the testimony along this line was ruled out.

Judge Talty, to whom the matter was referred, Tuesday ruled that the examination that Mr. Hawes should answer a question put by Meriwether as to whether the Democratic state committee had requested the election commissioners to do all in their power to defeat the Republican-Public Ownership fusion plans by securing the appointments of certain judges and clerks.

IMPORTANT INSURANCE RULING
Judge Wood Makes a Ruling on Fraternal Association Insurance Which Will Establish a Precedent.

Judge Wood of the circuit court, in dismissing the bill of the plaintiff in the case of Anna Ohmeyer vs. the Supreme Forest Woodmen's Circle of Omaha yesterday afternoon, handed down an opinion in which he holds that foreign beneficiary associations, under the present statutes, are not subject to the general insurance laws of Missouri.

He also held that the section of the statute in the general insurance law which provides that no misrepresentation made in procuring insurance shall be deemed material unless the matter misrepresented contributed to the death of the beneficiary, did not apply.

The Supreme Forest Woodmen's Circle of Omaha is a fraternal insurance organization incorporated under the laws of Nebraska and authorized to do business in this state.

Mr. Geraghty of St. Louis secured admission to the organization and took out a policy for $500, which she made payable to her estate. She later assigned it to his wife, Anna Ohmeyer.

After Mrs. Geraghty died, the organization refused to pay the policy on the grounds that its issuance had been obtained by false representations. The defendant alleged that Mary Geraghty claimed to be in good health when initiated and shortly after died of consumption. She also represented that none of her relatives were subject to consumption although her sister, K. A. E. died of the disease.

Judge Wood held that the case at bar was governed by the decision by the Mutual Reserve Life Association (147 Mo. page 163), wherein it was declared that where, by the terms of the certificate, the representations are made a warranty, then such representations, whether material or immaterial, if untrue, voided the policy. The plaintiff, in an effort to prove that the defendant was not subject to the general insurance law of Missouri, cited the decision of Judge Marshall of the Supreme Court in the case of Kern vs. the Supreme Council of the American Legion of Honor, in which Judge Marshall decided that foreign beneficiary associations were subject to the general insurance laws of Missouri.

Judge Wood, in his ruling, decided that the present act of the legislature relative to beneficiary associations, which is incorporated in the revised statutes of 1929, repealed the law of 1898 under which Judge Marshall made his decision and holding.

He held that Mrs. Geraghty, having in her application stated that none of her relatives had died of consumption, and being proven that her sister, K. A. E. died of that malady, under the terms of the insurance certificate sued upon this representation was a warranty and material; being false, it rendered the policy null and void.

The case will probably be appealed and furnish a precedent.

FLORAL SHOW AT SIMMONS'.
Four Florists Competing in a Novel Contest in China Department.

The Simmons Hardware Co. is conducting a contest for the best table decoration among four local florists—Osterberg Bros., Charles L. Connon, Ellison & Tesson, and Mrs. M. N. Ayres. The contest began Monday and will continue until Wednesday.

The florists have been permitted to use the china in the china department, where the display is made, and have each been assigned a table to set and decorate according to the taste of their particular taste.

That of Osterberg Bros. is set with English Minton china and silver. Its centerpiece is of pink Cattleya orchids and lilies of the valley. Within the flowers are lighted back of colored globes. The prevailing color is pink.

Charles L. Connon's table is called "The Golden Wedding" and is decorated in gold. The china used is Guerin and the flowers yellow chrysanthemums.

Ellison & Tesson have Haviland china, hand painted, on their table. Their decoration is a centerpiece of four kinds of orchids, lilies of the valley and maiden hair ferns.

Mrs. M. N. Ayres' table is white and green as to flowers and ferns, and is set with Haviland china. A beautiful piece of Bavaria extends beyond the centerpiece and forms a kind of foil for the color given by the colored balls of the electric lights.

DOUBT HE IS TAYLOR.

Citizens of Carrollton Do Not Think Atlanta Prisoner Is Murderer.

"We have little hope that the soldier arrested at Atlanta, Ga., will prove to be George Taylor," said W. R. Palmer, editor of a newspaper at Carrollton, Mo., Tuesday at the Southern.

"George Taylor is at least 40 years old. The dispatches say the soldier is 28. The dispatches say the soldier was in the army. George Taylor was always calm and careful."

"The doubt held by Sheriff Cruzen and other citizens of Carrollton is the only natural view of the case. Almost every week a letter is received from Carrollton, telling where George Taylor may be found."

"Before this soldier was arrested the sheriff received a letter from a man named Taylor, Georgia. It said he formerly lived in Carroll County, and that he knew where George Taylor was."

"From his letter I judge he was a soldier, and it may be that it was this man who told the Atlanta authorities that the other soldier was Taylor."

"George Taylor escaped from the Carrollton jail about seven years ago, after being convicted of the murders of the Meeks family."

Other citizens of Carrollton are of the opinion that the soldier is not the same as the one who was arrested at Atlanta, Ga., and that he knew where George Taylor was."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—Marian Nolan, known as "The California Venus," was shot and killed on the steps of her home last night by Edward Macchutis, a rejected suitor, who then killed himself.

Mrs. Nolan attained western fame just prior to the Chicago World's Fair, when she won a beauty contest to determine the most perfectly formed woman in California, and a statue was modeled according to her figure. She later appeared on the stage in small parts.

They had quarreled. She ordered him to leave her and he refused, whereupon she struck him with an umbrella. Then he shot her. When assured she was dead he shot himself.

TELEGRAPH ACCUSED OF THEFT

MACHINE FOR TRANSMISSION IS CHARGED WITH STEALING CALLED ELECTROGRAPH. HORSES ON HIS TRIPS.

SUCCESSFUL TESTS MADE HE IS A PILLAR IN CHURCH

Pictures of Scenes as Well as Persons Were Sent Over Wire by Arthur Leslie.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—A practical demonstration of the electrograph, a little machine which telegraphs portraits or any kind of a picture, is being given in the offices of Arthur Leslie.
The machine consists primarily of a revolving cylinder a foot and a half long and about four inches in diameter. It can be used for either sending or receiving a picture.
Two machines are in operation in Mr. Leslie's office. One is used for sending pictures, the other for receiving.
With the aid of resistance coils, the machines, from the telegrapher's standpoint, were about 50 miles apart, though only a few yards separated the desks on which they rested.
It took from 10 to 15 minutes to telegraph portraits of King Edward, Senator Hanna, Mayor Low, President McKinley, President Harper of the Chicago University, and other celebrities. Pictures of interiors and other scenes were also telegraphed.

A FALSE FACE.

When dyspepsia fastens on a man it changes his feelings and it changes his looks. He frowns now instead of smiling. His expression is harsh instead of kindly. He is wearing a false face—a face which does injustice to the real nobility of his nature.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, and the record of the cure is written both in the face and the feelings of the person cured.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is not a stimulant or temporary tonic. It cures the diseases that are the cause of ill-health and builds up the body with sound flesh.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." The sole motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vandewater, of West Division Street, Chicago, Ill., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and then write how I felt. I am happy to say I am getting to feel fine. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the 'Pills.' They have done me worlds of good. All my friends say, 'Vandewater, how well you are looking.' The medicines have made the great change in me: from the slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired, and the time could do no work to a man who can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling all gone away. I am very thankful that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little liver 'Pills' have almost made a new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged bowels.

COL. SINCLAIR HOPEFUL.

Does Not Think First Regiment Will Lose Its Home.

Judgment for $20, the amount of one month's rent, was rendered in Justice Spaulding's court by default yesterday against Col. C. A. Sinclair and other officers of the First Regiment, N. G. M. The judgment also carried with it possession of the armory to the plaintiff, Nelson Leonard, owner of the building.
The First regiment is in arrears nine months' rent, $250, but suit was brought only to recover one month's rent and possession of the building.
Col. Sinclair and the other officers are making strenuous efforts to prevent eviction by raising funds among the business men to pay off the indebtedness. Thus far they have secured $100 and have promised further aid. Col. Sinclair does not think the regiment is in danger of present eviction.

O'Daniel was acquitted by the Clayton circuit court, to which he had taken an appeal from a conviction by Judge Campbell's court in Maplewood.

BOY ATTACKED BY FIERCE DOG

Playing When the Animal Leaped Upon Him.

MOTHER CAME TO RESCUE
BRUTE ATTACKED HER AND POLICEMAN SHOT IT.

Morris Overby, Seven Years Old, and His Mother of 1715 North Garrison Avenue Severely Bitten.

When Mrs. Mary Overby heard the screams of her little boy, and looking through the window saw the child prone upon the ground with a big dog over him snarling and tearing his features, she flew through the doorway, seized the animal by the neck and exerting desperate strength she forced him back.

The dog seemed frenzied and he snapped at her three times, lacerating the flesh of her right hand. Finally recognizing his mistress he slunk away into the house, from which he was enticed later by considerable coaxing and shot to death by two policemen. This was at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Morris, 7 years old, the son of William T. Overby, a plumber who lives at 1715 North Garrison avenue, was the child who suffered.

There is a deep incision dangerously near his left eye, the tight bandage of which obscures his vision, a great gash in his cheek beneath the left ear, which had to be sewed by the surgeon, and a number of other less painful wounds about the head.

BLOOD POISON THE DANGER.

His mother, who so bravely hastened to his rescue, suffers from three severe lacerations of the right hand. All of the injuries were dressed by Dr. L. William Ray of 1920 Bacon street, who pronounced them not necessarily dangerous unless blood poisons sets in.

PLAYING "TRAIN."

Morris, his little brother James, 5 years old, and their friend, Danny Farber, 5 years of age, were playing "train" in front of the house, and the Overby family pet, a great dog who is tall as a man when standing on his hind legs and three feet high on all fours, was lying in the grass sullenly watching them.

Suddenly he roused himself and, emitting a growl, rushed at Morris and leaping upon him, struck the child down. The little fellow fought desperately, but the heavy brute pinioned him with his paws and savagely mauling at his face.

The boy's playmates stood for a moment almost paralyzed with fear, and then Morris' little sister ran into the house screaming "Mamma, mamma, 'Sport' is eating Morris up."

The mother rushed to the front of the house and saw the child bleeding and helpless. When she went to the boy's rescue the brute turned from his first prey to attack her. He bit her severely three times.

Just at this juncture a street car was passing and Officers Coleman and Bittie, who were aboard it, saw the danger the woman was in and leaped off.

SHOT THE DOG.

The dog, however, had desisted and had sneaked into the house. It was a long time before he could be coaxed out. When he did come, both policemen shot him. The family is unable to account for the dog's sudden spirit of viciousness. He has been the children's playmate for years and was a great, lumbering, powerful friend to them before.

He has been left in charge of them many times and watched over them as carefully as a mother. The entire family was fond of him, and when the dog catches him last Friday, Mr. Overby hastened to procure his release on Saturday.

The latter had gone downtown yesterday and got a license for the brute when the trouble occurred.

When the catchers took "Sport" into custody for lack of a license, the incident was recorded in the neighborhood's history. It required three of the men to put him in the wagon and the dog was nearly choked him to death with his paws. He was so big that he would knock a large man off his feet by running against him, but he was always gentle and kindly disposed until the trouble occurred.

Dr. Barlow, the family physician, extracted a piece of the dog's spine last night to make an incision into the wound in condition when the attack occurred, to make sure that he was not affected with a mad disease.

TOOK TOO MUCH MORPHINE

Clarence C. Fish, a Stenographer, Found Dead in His Room at 1520 Locust Street Tuesday Morning.

Clarence C. Fish, aged 23, a stenographer in the office of the treasurer of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, was found dead at 5:55 o'clock Tuesday morning in his room in the boarding house of Mrs. Ida M. Clark, 1520 Locust street. Excessive use of drugs, the result of a habit formed while studying medicine in Lincoln, Neb., last year, is believed to have caused Fish's death.

Fish was overcome by strychnine two weeks ago and spent a night and a day as a patient at the City Hospital, leaving that institution before he had thoroughly recovered from the effects of the drug.

On returning from the hospital Fish told his friends at the Locust street house that he had resolved to stop the use of drugs. This resolve, his fellow boarders say, was kept until Monday night.

Dr. J. A. Ward, who boards at Mrs. Clark's house, pronounced death due to an overdose of strychnine.

Fish had been in St. Louis a little more than a month. He was employed before coming here in the Illinois Hospital for the Insane at Jacksonville.

An inquest was begun at 10 o'clock, and a post-mortem examination could be held. The post-mortem was held at the residence of Mrs. Mary P. Fish, who is the sister of the deceased, and also known him at Madison, Wis. She came to St. Louis with him some weeks ago and was introduced at a lodging house as his sister.

ALL TOOK HAND IN FIGHT.

As a result of a difficulty on a Suburban electric car at Belleville Monday night charges have been made against four men.

Robert Meyer, a baker, got into an argument with Earl S. Williams, the conductor, and a fight ensued. The conductor, however, joined in, and the fight was continued.

Williams came to the aid of the conductor, and the fight was continued. The car was stopped at Belleville and the four men were taken into custody.

POOLROOMS ARE RUNNING OPEN

Concern on 8th Street Takes in $1900 in One Day.

IN VIOLATION OF THE LAW
MANY BETTING PLACES CONDUCT BUSINESS SECRETLY.

Detective Thomas McGrath Has Charge of a Squad of Men Whose Duty Is Suppression of All Forms of Gambling.

St. Louis has again become infested with the poolroom evil. The word "poolroom," however, has been eliminated for the less pretentious title of "handbook making," a scheme of gambling on the races which is carried out under the very eyes of the police.

In only slight details is the "handbook" different from the poolroom. In the latter tickets are issued, while the patrons of the handbook receive no such assurance that they will be able to cash their tickets in the event of making a winning.

The handbook patrons—and they are just as numerous as those that ever frequented the poolrooms—trust to the integrity of the bookmaker, who inscribes their names, bet and other memoranda on a slip of paper. Probably a half a dozen handbooks are secretly operated, while four are being conducted openly, one at 208-1-2 North Eighth street, another at 613 Chestnut street, one at Third and Chestnut streets and a fourth at 209 North Seventh street.

OPEN AT 9 O'CLOCK.

Usually the handbooks begin operation at 9 o'clock in the morning and continue until 5 p. m. Some do not open until 1 o'clock. During these hours there is a constant stream of bettors.

Cook's place is supposed to be conducted on moral lines. At least the manager, Frank Phillips, will tell you this. Mr. Phillips says that it has been his chief aim to bar all minors and to refuse to accept bets from persons earning a salary of less than $1000 a year.

In other words, if you are 21, or over, and get the above salary mark, you can bet as freely and as generously as you like at Mr. Cook's place.

Cook's customers say he is "on the square," that he never "throws down" anybody. By this last phrase is meant that if you win at Cook's you are always certain to have your ticket cashed; no controversy is forced, and the books are kept with conscientious correctness.

RECEIPTS OF A DAY, $1900.

An idea of the money which the handbooks are taking from their patrons may be had from the statement that one day last week Cook's total receipts for the day amounted to $1900.

Of this sum $150 constituted net profits, while the balance of $350 went to the "sure thing" plunkers.

Cook's expenses are light. His headquarters are back of the billiard hall on Eighth street, and a cashier is always there to receive your bet.

In case a detective is hanging around—and one usually is, for what purpose no one knows—you will be escorted to a side room, where the wager is made. It is estimated that the books cost St. Louis clerks and men of moderate salaries, who compose the chief clientele of the places, about $3000 a day.

From these figures it will be seen that in one year the "handbooks" would divert from legitimate channels over $1,000,000. Detective Thomas McGrath has charge of a squad of men, whose specific and practically exclusive duty is the suppression of all forms of gambling.

This order, issued by Chief Kieley three months ago, applies with special emphasis to the infamous handbook operators.

McGrath has been making daily reports to Chief Kieley on this subject and the reports elaborate very strongly on policy shops, crap games, etc.

"NOTHING DOING."
On Oct. 20 Mr. McGrath called Chief Kieley's attention to the policy shops which he had raided.

In the same letter he said: "There was nothing doing in the handbook line Saturday."

The handbooks were running as usual Saturday, and money was lost and perhaps a little won in them by those who took chances.

Chief of Police Kieley was asked by the Post-Dispatch if he knew of the existence of "handbooks" in St. Louis. He replied that he did not.

"Does Detective McGrath make any report on them?"

"Well, he does," answered the chief, "but it is hard to make a case against them. The chief further said that Cook's place had been reported."

President Hawes of the board of police commissioners stated that McGrath was made chief of the gambling squad because he was highly recommended to the board.

"Chief Desmond," said Mr. Hawes, "told me that he was one of the best men. McGrath was a good man for this work, and so McGrath was selected."

"About the handbooks I know nothing, but I should judge it would be extremely difficult to make a case against them. It is true the operation of them is just as illegal as are poolrooms."

"They are punishable just the same as poolrooms under the law. I realize, too, that they can accomplish just as much harm."

The Monroe Doctrine.
From the Detroit News.

What a terrible bugaboo some people make of a simple matter! What, pray, is there difficult about the Monroe doctrine? Listen. The Germans are still warring about the Monroe doctrine. Even the President, in his recent tour, tried to make the doctrine clearer. The big controversy is simply a matter of words. The Monroe doctrine is a simple thing. It says that no foreign nation shall interfere in the affairs of the Americas.

SOME OF THE QUEER THINGS THAT ALUM MAY DO FOR US

When the alum's in the water and the water's in the tub, There will be, it's more than likely, a long period of death. For the pucker of the alum will create a mighty thirst, And the man who's full of alum will im-bibe until he burst.

When the alum's in the water and the water's in the tub, Horrified, the washerwoman soon will cease to rub and scrub. For, in the elimination of the ordinary dirt, She will find that very nearly she has lost the bloom'n' shirt.

When the alum's in the water and the water's in the tub, There is really no accounting for the odd things that may come. Ethel, who was plump and jovious, will become a withered sprite, While the fat man, getting pucker'd, will declare it out of sight.

one-fourth of the usual cost of planting." His plow will be run by a gasoline engine of sufficient power to propel the plow at any desired depth down to 12 inches. Where it is used fewer horses and mules will be required.

Dr. Gatling expects to have his plow in operation in about three weeks. "I have been much hindered by the slowness of mechanics—or of those having the mechanics employed. Were that not the case my plow would be in operation now."

Dr. Gatling's wife writes all his letters for him at his dictation. He thinks that the work of women in the world is not properly recognized.

"Of all the monuments in Washington, I have yet to see one that has been erected to a woman. Thousands of dollars are appropriated yearly by the government for the building of monuments, but none are erected to women. That is not right. They do the most for the country," he declared.

Dr. Gatling Strong for Women's Rights.
"I think it is a shame that they are not allowed to vote. Negroes, ignorant foreigners and others are allowed to vote, but not women. I think they should be given every right that men have, especially in regard to salaries. In Washington women who do the same work that men do are given about two-thirds the salary. I do not see justice in that."

Dr. Gatling was never in battle himself, although so many of his guns have been. He had smallpox early in his life. That left him near-sighted, although today he is able to read without glasses. His motto in life is: "Be glad and don't worry."

"Worry and fret have killed more men in the world than all the guns," says this thinker out of killing machines. Dr. Gatling is much interested in the progress of the Gatling gun. He hopes that St. Louis will make a good showing at that time.

Although a Southerner by birth, he has lived in the East long enough to want to do things after the fashion of the East—quickly. He complains of the slowness of St. Louis, but adds: "There are many enterprising persons in St. Louis. The work on the motor plow will keep Dr. Gatling in St. Louis for some time. Part of the thing done in Granite City and part in the city proper. Granite City stay here he does not remain at hotel's but at 360 Lindell boulevard. He has his work done here in order to be close to the great farms of the West."

SOLDIERS GUARD AT WEDDING
Marriage of a Nonunionist Couple in the Strike Region Had Military Protection.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 21.—A wedding, under the protection of a detail of soldiers, at which the contracting parties were a non-unionist mine worker and the daughter of a non-unionist, was the unusual incident of the coal strike in this region that kept a number of the First Regiment boys out of their quarters until an early hour this morning.

The wedding took place in East Hazleton, Henry Miller, who, since the strike, has continued working on No. 40 shaft of the Lehigh Coal Co., married Daisy Kipler, daughter of another workman. The guests included a half dozen or more workmen who refused to strike and their wives and daughters.

Just prior to the ceremony Kipler received an intimation that the ceremony was to be broken up by a number of union men. Capt. Todd ordered a detail of eight men to the scene and accompanied the soldiers in order that they may leave the position being nearly 100. The detail was posted outside the house and while the ceremony was being held the soldiers were fixed, chambers loaded and their belts slung in the moonlight, the bride and groom were made one.

All through the night the guard outside kept vigil, while from within the wedding party gave themselves up to merry-making in the confidence that they were safe from the same time, thus saving the farmer

"CHOIR SINGERS SHOULD ORGANIZE"

Musical Octopus Threatened With a Fight.

PRICES IN ST. LOUIS WAY DOWN
HOMER MOORE DISCUSSES THE PRESENT SITUATION.

Thinks Singers Would Benefit by Organization Even Though the Musical Trust Is Not So Formidable as Some Think.

The local musical octopus is threatened with a fight. According to opinions expressed by several local authorities on music, an organization of choir singers is being considered.

Homer Moore, formerly choirmaster of the First Presbyterian Church and well known in local musical circles, both as a singer and vocal instructor, discussing the "musical trust" question, said this morning:

"The singers, if they recognize their own interests, will undoubtedly organize. Personally, I do not know of many instances in which singers have suffered at the hands of the Associated Choir Leaders of St. Louis. I do not know, however, that the possibilities for doing harm are there."

The members of the organization, while they are only eight or nine in number, represent the best-paying churches in the city. In their field they can do away with competition, and their example practically fixes the standard of salaries paid locally.

St. Louis Churches

Pay Small Salaries.
"It is a well-known fact that St. Louis churches pay less to their vocalists than any other city of its size in the country. Whether the so-called 'musical trust' has anything to do with the matter or not, I am unable to say. Were the instance to come up in other business conditions, you can readily imagine that popular opinion would probably hold the 'trust' responsible."

"Most singers are not even given contracts by the trust, but sing merely on sufferance. They are subject to release by the choirmaster at any time."

"This would be a popular opinion, but the organization has negotiations between a singer who would leave a position and any member of the Associated Choirmasters' Association until the consent of the member by whom the singer was first employed is obtained."

"I am told that the chairmen of the various music-committees do not interfere to prevent a singer from advancing his or her interests. You can see that the possibility for harm is there."

Association of

Singers Wise Move.
"My idea of the best plan to be pursued, so that conditions will be adjusted to the mutual advantage of both the singers and their employers, would be to form an organization of choir singers, and let them co-operate with the associated music-committees or the Protestant churches."

"I think the plan will probably be put through shortly, but there is difficulty in getting some one to start the affair. Singers holding positions under the Associated Music Committee's organization would naturally be chary of promoting a scheme of the kind, and the disengaged singers or those with positions in other churches, may fear to start thinking that some day they may be in a position to need a favor from the 'trust.'"

Merit Must Be

Made a Requirement.
"The one thing to be insisted upon by the proposed organization is that positions be given out on merit alone. At present 'trust' has the power to make appointments in any case it sees fit. Frequently it accepts the services of singers who are not qualified, and who are not properly trained either in sight reading or in handling their voices. This undoubtedly keeps experienced vocalists out of places. The church saves the difference in salary between the novice's pay and that of a trained singer."

"When the plan is once launched it will undoubtedly find many supporters. As I said, I personally know nothing of the evils said to be worked by the 'trust.' I hear of instances, but of my own knowledge I have no evidence. There is generally a fire behind the smoke, however."

Mr. Alfred Robyn, formerly leader of the Apollo Club, said:

"Organization will benefit any set of workers in any line, and not familiar with the workings of what you call the 'trust' I have heard of the association and have heard complaints of singers suffering from its existence."

"In that case the singers might profit by the suggestion to organize and put themselves in a position to do a little dictating themselves. Personally, I have no ideas in the matter to offer, beyond this."

BWARE OF ANOTHER'S WIFE

Bishop Tells Young Negro Preachers How to Avoid Trouble and Grow in Faith.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 21.—Bishop Arnett of the Pittsburgh African Methodist Episcopal conference here last night made an address to young men just entering the ministry. He said:

"When you marry and go to church dark nights have but one lantern: let your wife enjoy the light with you. Don't allow another man's wife to have the light of yours to be a dark or you will soon have trouble."

To the young people of the congregation he said:

"I also advise the young ladies and gentlemen who are present to learn trades in order that you may leave the position of porters, cooks, bootblacks and coachmen. Cease playing the act of a duds with a hat on a street. Be a man. Be a man."

"During slavery your fathers could not advance their children to the schools and colleges are open for you."

"Do not take your preachers for examples or you are likely not to get to heaven by a long shot. Be the kind of a man that God intended the colored man to be, not a poor excuse for a woman."

MINERS BEGIN WORK THURSDAY

Strike Officially Declared Off by the Convention.

ROOSEVELT'S PLAN ACCEPTED
COMMUNICATION FORWARDED TO THE PRESIDENT.

Every Delegate Given a Chance to State His Views, After Which Arbitration Was Agreed to Without a Dissenting Voice.

WILKESHAIRE, Pa., Oct. 21.—The mine workers' convention has accepted the arbitration proposal, declared the strike off and agreed to return to work on Thursday morning next.

The following report of the committee on resolutions was adopted without dissent, after free debate by the delegates:

We, the committee on resolutions, beg leave to recommend that the following communication be adopted and forwarded to Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America:

WILKESHAIRE, Pa., Oct. 21, 1902.
Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—We, the representatives of the employees of the various coal companies engaged in operating mines in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania, in convention assembled, having under consideration your telegram of Oct. 15, 1892, addressed to John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, which reads as follows: 'I have appointed, as commissioners, Brigadier-General John H. Wilson, E. W. Parker, Judge George Gray, E. E. Clark, Thomas H. Watkins, Bishop J. L. Spaulding, with Carrol D. Wright as recorder. These names are accepted by the operators, and I now earnestly ask and urge that the miners likewise accept this commission. It is a matter of vital concern to all our people, and especially to those in our great cities, who are least well off, that the mining of coal should be resumed without a moment's unnecessary delay.' have decided to accept the proposition therein embodied and submit all questions at issue between the mine operators and mine workers of the anthracite region for adjustment to the commission which you have named.

In pursuance of that decision, we shall report for work on Thursday morning, Oct. 23, in the positions and working places occupied by us prior to the inauguration of the strike.

We have authorized John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, with such assistants as he may select, to represent us in all matters before the committee.

JOHN MITCHELL, Chairman of the Convention.
W. B. WILSON, Secretary of the Convention.

So the greatest strike in history, which began May 12, making nearly 100,000 men for over five months and cost $125,000,000, ended on Oct. 21, with the sine die adjournment of the convention.

President Mitchell announced that he has received a telegram from President Roosevelt, which would call a meeting of the commission immediately after the favorable action of the convention.

President Mitchell said he had reason to believe that the findings of the commission would be announced within one month after the close of the convention.

The convention also decided that all men needed to place the mines in condition for mining can return to work at once.

There was an animated discussion of the resolution committee's report, participated in by all the leaders and many of the delegates who were not so well known. At the close of Mitchell's strong plea for the adoption of the report National Secretary-Treasurer Wilson spoke for the proposition.

He said the miners were always willing to arbitrate, and now that the coal company officials have agreed, the miners are bound to agree. To those men who feared that they might not get back their positions, he put the question how they knew they would not be taken back. He said they were only anticipating it. He felt sure that no competent man need fear the result. He closed by paying a tribute to all those who have helped the miners.

The delegates, in brief speeches, took up both sides of the question with great animation. Those opposed to the proposition, wanted specific assurances that they would be taken care of. During the debate three speeches were made in foreign languages—Slovakian, Polish and Lithuanian.

The three foreign-speaking delegates favored the acceptance of the proposition. A Slovak delegate wanted to know what wages the men would receive if they go to work Thursday, which created a laugh. He was informed that the question would be placed in the hands of the commission.

SAVED MOTHER AT RIVER

Mrs. Ella Smith Prevented Her Son From Committing Suicide.

By overcoming her mother in a struggle on the river's bank, Mrs. Ella Smith, Monday afternoon, prevented a suicide.

Mrs. Gillespie, the young woman's mother, is but 35 years old. Her daughter was married a few weeks ago, and lives in Madison, Ill. She came to St. Louis Monday to visit her mother, who lives at 2208 North Broadway. She found her mother despondent over the disappearance of her son, John Gillespie, aged 17, who had run away from home.

About 5 o'clock the older woman, on the pretext of going to the grocery, sought the river's bank. Her daughter followed her and by main force prevented her from leaping into the water.

WELL LICENSES NOW BEING PAID

Dealers Obligated to Register With Commissioner.

NO OBJECTION YET MADE

LICENSE ISSUED ON CERTIFICATE FROM BOARD OF HEALTH.

Farmers' Licenses for Peddling Also Being Issued in Considerable Number, but They May Cause Lawsuit.

"Milk License" reads a new placard on the entrance to the office of License Commissioner P. J. Clifford at the City Hall. It means that the operation of the new milk law passed in August has begun and that everybody who handles milk commercially is expected to pay a fee to the municipality for so doing.

Five thousand St. Louisans, Mr. Clifford estimates, are amenable to the provisions of the law. It provides that all milk dealers shall pay a registration fee of $1; that they shall incidentally take out a license costing $2 for each milk wagon they operate; and that every wholesale dealer handling 18 gallons of milk daily shall take out a special license costing $50.

Collector Refuses to Take Fees.

The ordinance says the license fees shall be paid to the city collector, but Mr. Clifford says that Collector Hammer refused to accept them, saying that they belonged to the license commissioner.

So, after being advised to do so by City Councilman Bates, Mr. Clifford took up the work. He issues the licenses on certificates from the Board of Health and the city chemist, with whom the milk dealers must first register.

The milk dealers have commenced paying the registration and license fees to him and so far Mr. Clifford has heard of no disposition on their part to fight the new ordinance.

Another ordinance which Mr. Clifford has recently commenced enforcing will likely precipitate a contest in the courts. That is the ordinance compelling country farmers to take out a peddler's license, which they propose to sell their products to St. Louis consumers.

Mr. Clifford has instructed the police to arrest all farmers without peddler's license except to sell their goods in St. Louis. About twenty-five of them have been arrested recently and compelled to secure licenses.

Case Will Be Tested in Court.

The farmers of St. Louis County, particularly, object to Mr. Clifford's action and are organizing clubs to institute a test case and take the matter to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Clifford, however, states that it is only just to St. Louisans, who pay the license fees, that the city should have competition with them be placed under the same obligation.

He has received a letter from Albert J. Jans, secretary of the St. Louis Retail Grocers' Association, stating that at a meeting of the association last Tuesday night he was instructed to notify Mr. Clifford that the association had unanimously tendered him a vote of thanks for his course in regard to the farmers, and to also assure him of the association's confidence in his administration.

WASHINGTON AVENUE BANK.

New Institution Will Be Capitalized at $200,000.

The application for a new downtown national bank to be known as the Washington National Bank of St. Louis, was approved by the controller of the currency yesterday, and it is said the new institution will be opened for business on the 1st of January with a capital of $200,000.

The entire capital will be paid up before business begins, and the promoters, Messrs. Bond, Montgomery, and Jacobson, are confident that the bank will be a success. It is made a national institution in order to insure confidence. It will be located on Washington avenue, just off of Locust street, but the exact site has not been selected.

The application was signed by David Bond, president, and Messrs. Bond, Montgomery, and Jacobson, who are the promoters. The new bank will cater especially to the Washington avenue wholesale trade for its patronage and when the business demands it the capital stock will be increased correspondingly.

CURED LIKE LOLITA ARMOUR.

Eight-Year-Old Wm. Pearce Regained Use of Right Leg.

William Pearce, Jr., aged 8, was cured two years ago, his parents say, of an affliction similar to that for which Dr. Lorenz has operated on Lolita Armour, daughter of the Chicago millionaire.

William C. Pearce of 476 Gibson avenue, the boy's father, says that before being treated by Dr. J. O. Hatton, an osteopath, the boy was without the use of his right leg, which had shriveled up as the result of an accident in his third year, in which his right leg had been dislocated.

The first work done by the physician was in getting the bone back into place, the muscles of the leg were next treated. The boy now attends school, walks without crutches, and shows the traces of his misfortune only by a slight limp, which, his parents have been assured, will gradually disappear.

ARCHBISHOP KAIN IMPROVES.

Prelate Will Go to Eureka Springs Some Day This Week.

Upon the advice of his physician Archbishop Kain will go to Eureka Springs some day this week, probably tomorrow. The venerable prelate has improved in health of late and was able to take a long walk and stroll car ride yesterday.

Rev. Father J. Byrne, his assistant rector of St. Lawrence O'Toole's Church, took up his duties as chaplain at the diocesan residence yesterday. He was appointed a few days ago because of the infirmity of the archbishop, who is unable to celebrate mass every day.

GETMAN Noblemen Here.

Count Wilhelm Von Polenz of Castle Oberlinenwald, Saxony, and Landgraf P. Von Schwerin of West Prussia, who came to America last August on a tour of the United States and Canada, are stopping at the Planter's Hotel.

The purpose of the visit is to study American customs and institutions and the foreign noblemen state that they have been very favorably impressed.

They have traveled from New York to California, where they remained several weeks as the guests of the presidents of the Leland Stanford and California universities. From here they will go to Louisville, thence to Washington and to New York, from which point they will sail for Europe.

A special train, in charge of H. Y. Darnell of the Pennsylvania Railroad, carries the princely party. The cars at the party's disposal are the private car Columbia, a composite parlor, smoking and baggage car, a dining car and a compartment car.

FOLK'S FOLLY.

Col. George D. Reynolds a Circuit Attorney.

The work of Circuit Attorney Folk was endorsed by Col. George D. Reynolds, Republican candidate for Congress in the Twelfth district, in a speech at Schuler's Hall, Monday night.

Col. Reynolds declared that Mr. Folk and his assistant, C. Orrick Bishop, to whom he referred as "the man behind the gun," should receive the support of Republicans as well as Democrats. The word has gone out, he said, that the way to down Folk was to elect James J. Butler to Congress.

CATARH OF THE STOMACH

Cured by Eupesia Tablets.

Catarh of the stomach is like catarh of the nose. In the latter case you can't breathe freely through your nostrils, and in the former case you can't eat. The food you eat is not digested and it rises like so much dead weight. This brings on headaches, heartburn, vomiting, sleeplessness, tiredness, etc. It is a fact that one of the most common causes of decay of the teeth is stomach trouble. Of course, we are glad that Mr. Payton is cured and that we, through Eupesia Tablets, have the honor of curing him, but what was the sense of delaying all these years? Why not get the right remedy at the right moment—when the trouble begins? Still, get it any time, even later is better than never, but Mr. Payton's lesson teaches us that suffering from stomach trouble of any kind is wholly unnecessary when Eupesia Tablets can be had for 50 cents a box, guaranteed, or money refunded. Here is the appreciative letter of Mr. Payton's, and mark well every word of it:

"I have been troubled for years with indigestion and catarh of the stomach; I tried every known remedy, but found nothing to equal Eupesia Tablets. I can now eat meat or any kind of strong food without feeling any bad effect." JOHN C. PAYTON, Queen City, Mo.

Eupesia Tablets will cure every disease that affects the stomach, as well as all diseases of the bowels, such as indigestion, dyspepsia, uneasiness after eating, nausea, flatulency, bloated stomach, heartburn, chesty thinness, weak blood, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, salivary complexion and all other accompanying ailments. Eupesia Tablets help the stomach to do its work. It is the only remedy sold under a guarantee. If you are not money refunded, 50 cents a box (enough for two weeks), at all druggists or from the proprietors. Three days' treatment and treatise on stomach trouble sent free.

PROMINENT IN CHURCH WORK

Members of Many Fraternal Organizations Unite in Paying a Final Tribute to the Dead.

The funeral of Jacob Cerf, the aged cigar dealer, who died from a complication of diseases Sunday afternoon, was held at 9 o'clock this morning. Services were conducted by Rabbi Samuel Baie, of Shaare Emeth congregation, at the Cerf residence, 1207 La Salle street, and the body was buried in Mount Sinai Cemetery.

Mr. Cerf was prominently identified with the work of Shaare Emeth Temple, and a large number of the congregation called to pay their respects to the memory of the deceased this morning. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity, the B'nai B'rith Society and of the Free Sons of Israel, three of whom assisted as pallbearers. The pallbearers were Messrs. Joe Trauer, Gus Friedman, Louis Maas, A. Plesner, Ben O. Frankel, David Hollander and J. Rosenburg.

Mr. Cerf was a native of Nantes, France, where he was born 72 years ago. He came to this country in his youth, and settling in Louisville, Ky., became a salesman for a cigar house, traveling through the West before he came to St. Louis. He moved to St. Louis 35 years ago and has been in the retail cigar business ever since.

He left a widow and six children, all unmarried, as follows: Sam, Blanche, Mamie, Lillie, Ervin and Ruth. Blanche, the daughter, who is now a regular contributor to a leading magazine. She was on the stage for one season and made a success in a prominent role with a leading theatrical organization. She was telegraphed for and arrived in the city yesterday afternoon.

GOSSIP FROM THE THEATER

JOHN DREW'S DAUGHTER PLAYING IN "IRIS"

LOUISE DREW.

John Drew's daughter Louise is the leading woman this season in support of Virginia Harned in "Iris." The Pinero play that is making a somewhat questionable success in New York. She is said to be one of the new products and to possess many of the characteristics of the famous family of actors.

NEW THINGS IN NEW YORK.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Annie Irish and her husband, J. E. Dodson, came to town last night with "An American Invasion" at the Bijou. The play had been seen in other cities, where it was more or less approvingly accepted. New York's verdict is that this good play and the splendid company are a bad match.

Friends for Miss Irish and Mr. Dodson made their welcome warm and sincere at the Bijou. The play had been seen in other cities, where it was more or less approvingly accepted. New York's verdict is that this good play and the splendid company are a bad match.

Martin Harvey and his company from London presented Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities" at the Herald Square last night under the title of "The Only Way."

Handicapped by a play long familiar to New York theater-goers, and the further fact that all the company are strange to the city, the play must originally have been written for a comedian like Mr. Goodwin.

Concerning the company he has brought with him, and the environment he has given the drama, another story must be told. Both are far below the American standard.

A KENTUCKY FEUD.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BOSTON, Oct. 21.—"A Kentucky Feud," produced at the Music Hall tonight, drew a packed house and proved to be a most thrilling and cleverly written play. William T. Ketchum is the author.

THE COLUMBIA BILL.
The Columbia management has provided for their patrons this week a high-class program and one so varied in character that it should please all comers. There are a number of very fine acts and when one hunts for the "best" one it is hard work to make a selection. The Meers troupe would seem to be the highest priced performers on the bill.

Edward T. Raymond presents a fine ventriloquist turn, in which he uses many mechanical figures, some of which seem to be almost endowed with life. Besides having to work a network of levers and wires, he is certainly master of his art. Kennedy and Rooney are very entertaining in an eccentric dancing act, in which the grotesque is noticeable.

James J. Corbett is doing his monologue this season, but has a new story or two. He seems to please the people, but a large majority of his friends would probably prefer to see him batter a punching bag.

The novelty of the program is an act by the Barrons brothers, evidently an English importation, judging from the dialect used. They do some strong-arm work and play ping-pong with a rubber pig filled with gas, which makes a ludicrous scene.

Annie Omeier's Suit Dismissed.
Judge Wood dismissed Monday the suit for $300 brought by Annie Omeier against the Supreme Forest Woodman's Circle of Omaha. Annie Omeier instituted the suit as heir of her father, Hoiger F. Omeier, who had been made the beneficiary of the $300 policy left by Cary G. Whitney. The insurance company claimed that Mary Omeier had made false representations when she secured the policy by stating that she was in good health, and for this reason the policy was void.

HERMIS MAY RACE M'CHESNEY

Durnell's Difficulty With the French Jockey Club May Make New York Shy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—The proposed race between the great 3-year-old Hermis and McChesney, will probably not come off. Durnell, who is part owner of McChesney, got into difficulties with the French Jockey Club last year, and because of this the New York Jockey Club will probably not accept his entry.

A year ago Durnell's license to ride was taken away by the French Jockey Club, and it is also stated that the California Jockey Club has refused to accept his entry. In view of this condition of affairs it is not likely that the New York Jockey Club will allow Durnell's horses to run over its tracks.

The Western Jockey Club, on the other hand, has welcomed Durnell, and his horses have been running and winning with great regularity at Chicago. It is now said that an effort will be made to bring these two crack horses together at the forthcoming Hennings meeting, when the question of supremacy will be decided.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 21.—The marriage of Mrs. Martha Beecham, a widow, 65 years old, and George Murry, a widower, 64 years old, was postponed this morning, after invitations had been sent out, the license procured, a feast prepared, and the guests had arrived.

Mrs. Beecham is the widow of William Beecham. She owns real estate and is much younger looking than her age would indicate. The cause of the postponement is not known. Each of the parties have been three married.

GIRLS THROWN FROM BUGGY.
Misses Katie and Lulu Antenreith of Clayton Bruised in Collision Yesterday.

While returning from school at Dayton, St. Louis County, yesterday afternoon, Misses Katie and Lulu Antenreith, daughters of the late George Antenreith of Clayton, were thrown from their buggy by a collision with a farm wagon and bruised by their falls.

After the accident the horses ran away, and the appearance at the Antenreith stable in Clayton of the empty buggy caused much alarm. A party was hurriedly formed to look for the young ladies, and a messenger on horseback, who rode ahead, recovered the rest by riding back with the news that the occupants of the buggy had not been seriously hurt.

The young women declare that the farmer whom they met on the Clayton road, near the North and South roads, did not allow them their half of the highway.

Patrician Logic

Economy is the excuse advanced for the buying of 90 per cent of the inferior shoes now being worn in this country. Your feet are the foundation of your entire bodily organization, and without good shoes you can not enjoy life. Do not try to save a dollar at the cost of many, for it is false economy. Pay a fair price.
